INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY OF CONTENT

The course content is the exclusive property of the organizers. To this end, any reproduction or modification, even partial, of content, by any means and for any purpose whatsoever, is subject to the express prior agreement of the organizers.

INSURANCE

The Participant to the conference warrants that he/she has subscribed and will maintain in anticipation and throughout the duration of the conference a liability insurance covering personal, tangible, intangible, direct and indirect damages that may be caused to third parties by its actions.

PROGRAMME

Whilst the programme is updated and correct prior to the Conference, the organizers reserve the right to make changes to the programme, timing, dates, format, location and/or speakers without prior notice. The organizers will endeavour to conduct the Conference with the format, content, location, dates and timing displayed in the "final version" of the Conference programme. The "final programme" will be as consistent as possible under the circumstances prevailing at the time with the "provisional versions" displayed before the Conference. However, the delegate should understand that alterations may be necessary due to circumstances beyond the control of the organizers.

In the event of major disruption to the Conference (including but not limited to: localized or widespread industrial action; strikes; protests; weather; acts or threats of terrorism; Acts of God; failure or suspension of travel, communication or power providers networks or systems etc) that necessitate major programme changes, the organizers may act as follows. The Conference and its constituents will go ahead, but at venues, dates, times, with a content and structure as close as possible to that in the final or latest draft version of the programme published. The organizers will take all reasonable measures to ensure that the items are delivered but delegates must accept that this may not be at the same times, dates, format or structure, location or venue as originally intended. In these extreme circumstances, the organizers reserve the right to use alternative media, such as teleconferencing /webinars post-conference as an alternative means of conferencing. In such a rescheduling situation, the terms in the section "Cancellation by Delegate" still apply and no refund will be offered. The organizers may, as an exception, grant the delegate the right to name a replacement person for their booking.

The organizers are not liable for any consequential loss suffered by the delegate for any matter arising from partial or complete non-performance by the organizers or its subcontractors. Similarly, under no circumstances will the organizers reimburse the delegate any costs he may have incurred in attending or trying to attend the Conference (such as travel, accommodation, meals etc) even in the event of partial or complete non-performance/cancellation by the organizers. Neither will the organizers reimburse additional costs that delegates may incur in attending a changed programme, irrespective of whether the changes are minor or major.

SPEAKERS

Views expressed by speakers are their own. The organizers disclaim any liability for advice given, or views expressed by any speaker at the Conference or in any documentation provided to delegates. The organizers are not responsible for the "non-attendance" of any of speakers irrespective of whether they are listed in the provisional or final version of the programme.

Presenters should be available to give their presentation at any point during the two days. The organizers cannot entertain individual requests for times or slots because it significantly impairs the quality and coherence of the themed sessions and integrated programme.
